

ABSTRACT

A portable folding chair without legs has a seat and a backrest. In a compact position, the seat and backrest lie substantially in the same plane with the backrest located immediately to the rear and sides of the seat. The 5 chair has an upright position where the backrest is mounted at an angle that is greater than substantially 90° relative to the seat.